Gifts

Policy Purpose:

The Ottawa Hospital (TOH) is committed to minimizing the possibility of conflict between the private interests of Staff and their duties at the workplace. This policy provides direction and measures for Staff, volunteers and physicians when presented with a Gift from Patients, Vendors, Suppliers, or others doing business with or seeking to do business with TOH.

Scope: This policy applies to all Staff.

A conflict of interest can be real, potential or perceived:

- A real conflict of interest arises where an individual has a bias, or a personal, occupational, professional or financial relationship or interest that may affect or compromise, or appear to affect or compromise, his or her work with TOH.
- A potential conflict of interest incorporates the concept of foreseeability: when an individual can foresee that a private or personal interest might someday be sufficient to influence his or her work with TOH, but has not yet (for example, an identified future commitment.)
- A perceived or apparent conflict of interest may exist when a reasonable, well-informed person has a reasonable belief that an individual has a conflict of interest, even if, in fact, there is neither a real nor a potential conflict.

Cumulative Value of Gifts: The increasing value of the Gifts as one party successively gives Gifts to another party.

Gift: A voluntary transfer of property from one person or entity to another made without charge or consideration. Gifts include but are not limited to articles of value such as money, honoraria, donations, tickets or passes to events, hospitality, trips and offers of travel, accommodation, meals, entertainment, equipment, privileges or other personal rewards and special considerations.

Nominal Value: Less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars.

Patients: Individuals who have or will receive medical attention, care and/or treatment at TOH. For the purposes of this policy this definition includes family, friends and the Patient's support group.
